"Bingo" M.I.A. in Kentucky

Spring finds Pi's from all over the midwest returning to their respective chapters tired, hung-over and happy. For the fourth consecutive year, Oakland was represented in the softball tournament. Our team finished third, despite the loss of star outfielder Dave "Bingo" Slowik. Dave attended the festivities at the Family Dog Friday night, but when Saturday morning rolled around — no Bingo. We finished our first game — still no Bingo. We won our second game in a row — time to go look for Bingo. We checked the obvious: hospitals, police stations, the girl's dorms — no Bingo.

Finally, as we were finishing our last game of the day — Bingo shows up! Not only does he show up, but he's got a grin on his face "bigger than all Kentucky." Apparently he'd been kidnapped by one of Kentucky's notoriously undersexed college women and whisked off to her home school — Moorehead, (nuf' said?) for extended hours of co-ed body surfing. For the really gory details, give Bingo a call.

Other items of interest included Chris Riley getting his room trashed by unknown perpetrators; singing Mike Ridley songs in our drunken stupor to unimpressed Delta Zeta sorority women; Mike Pachuta being pile-driven in the hotel room; John Zeilke wandering around in a drunken stupor Saturday night; Rob Waters wandering around in an even "drunkener" stupor Friday night; and Greg Stephens making sure he enjoyed his last few days of freedom before leaving for the Marine Corps.

John Kicks "Heiney" as a T.V. Superstar

It's true! We've got a celebrity in our midst (and in our Alumni Association). In case you missed it, John Heiney recently appeared on the T.V. news trying to reassure a panicking public that the recent outbreak of Legionaire's Disease was nothing to be alarmed about.

With his hair neatly combed (as always) he calmly told the interviewer that "nobody should be afraid to come to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac — unless of course they don't have any insurance — in which case, they should get their freeloading butts over to Pontiac General . . . anyway you desirable paying patients should flock down here and spend all the insurance money you can despite the fact that we have a killer germ lurking in our air conditioning!"

Didn't here about the outbreak? John must have done a good job killing the story in his position as Public Relations Associate.

As I'm sure you guessed — a good time was had by all. What about next year's trip you ask? Well considering a few of this year's participants are pushing thirty — its time for the undergraduate chapter to begin carrying the torch.

Upcoming Events

Saturday, July 6

Surprise Going Away Party for John Armitage

John Armitage has enlisted in the army. Chris Riley is throwing a SURPRISE party at his parents' house with the surprise happening at 1:00 pm sharp. If you are planning to be a member of the surprise brigade, please park at the elementary school and arrive before 1:00. After 2:00 pm, you can park at the hous. Call Chris Riley at 650-2917 to RSVP and for directions.

Thursday, July 4

Independence Day/Volleyball Party
Another excuse to party at Mike Pachuta's. Serious volleyball, drinking and celebration. Call Mike at 373-6588 for details.

Saturday, July 20

Alumni Picnic

The Alumni Picnic will be held at Stoney Creek Metropark in the Winter Cove pavilion unless otherwise marked. This event is the recipient of a fair portion of your Alumni Association dues — so plan to attend, drink, eat and play some great volleyball! Call Jeff Johnson for more information.

Saturday, August 10

Alumni Canoe Trip

The annual canoe trip will take place this year on the AuSable. Much easier drinking than the Sturgeon River from hell of last year. Contact Craig Porter or Bryan Mahlmeister for more information. Bryan is collecting $10 per person for reservations — and space is limited!

Grapevine

Here's this issue's clearing house of real and make-believe rumors. The next issue of S.Pi Magazine will have the answers to which are real and which are not.

- Dan Sapiano and Bryan Mahlmeister have split the cost of a lifetime membership to Wax On – Whacks Off, an east side body waxing salon. Bryan's Back and Danny's Chest are, following their first waxing, allegedly "smoother than a baby's butt."
- Jeff Johnson matched all six numbers in a recent Michigan Lotto Drawing. (This is purely speculation — but how else could he have amassed the large amounts of disposable income he's been flashing all over town?)
- Teddy Oresky is back in town, working at the Chimayo mexican restaurant in "New Pontiac." He is married and owns a couple of homes.
- Dave "Skippy" Peterson – despite his marriage, son, new home, new job and otherwise busy schedule actually picked up the phone and contacted one of his fraternity brothers.
- Vasile Nagy will be interviewed next month in his palatial Rochester Hills estate by Robin Leach for an upcoming episode of Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous.
- Henry Clay Estates, has been condemned by the Pontiac Department of Public Works. Consequently, Rob, Bora, Shawn and Carl have moved on to new accommodations.
- Greg Stephens is flying back from basic training in San Diego, CA to attend the Alumni Picnic on July 20th.
- John Zeilke is the new Chapter Director for the ailing (charterless) colony at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Grapevine . . . Last Issue's Answers

- Dan Sapiano has left Arthur Anderson and is now working in the private sector. His new love interest is reportedly so much like him that when he opens his wallet she squeaks! 100% True
 - Brett Lemon's wedding has been rescheduled following the bachelor party mishap. Apparently his groomsmen thought it would be funny to send him on a plane to Colorado — only he got snowed-in for three days and missed the wedding. 100% Trash
 - Dave Stillman is still alive and in his last year of law school. He even attended the last meeting and went to the bar after (where he reportedly bought drinks for everybody). Believe it or Not!
 - We got several letters from Scotty Westphal recently. He mistakenly boarded a military transport plane at the Cleveland airport that was bound for the Persian Gulf. Scott decided to make the best of the situation spending three months "working the sand wedge in the biggest bunker [he's] ever seen." No, but a neat & topical story
 - Mike Pachuta is moving to Tennessee (again). Apparently this time he's serious — he is selling his house (and our chapter volleyball court). True at the time – but he's since changed his mind.
 - Mike Hess was recently spotted at Four Green Fields. True
 - Craig Porter and Jim Lambouris are no longer living at home (we didn't figure you'd believe Dan Sapiano). They are living together in an apartment in Southfield. True
 - Dan Stacer is getting married May, 11 1991 and has recently moved from being a teller at Mich. Natl. Bank to a cushy job in cash management at the Corporate Headquarters. True
 - Mike Boyle has purchased a home in Royal Oak and has hired an interior decorator to pick out the room colors. Yes, a new home. However if you saw the mauve, you'd know no decorator was involved.
- April 3, 1991 — 9:20 am . . . This just in. The chapter is seriously investigating the possibility of buying a house. A suitable facility has been found on University, 3 miles from campus (toward Pontiac) False Alarm
